At a time when the hospitality and tourism industry worldwide is experiencing an unprecedented staff shortage, we must find ways to combine the expertise in academia with that of the industry to overcome this huge challenge

According to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, in May 2022 employment in the broader leisure and hospitality industry was down more than 1.3 million jobs compared to before the pandemic. Hotels are looking to fill many of those jobs. In a May 2022 survey of AHLA members, 97% said their hotels are understaffed, including 49% severely understaffed.

A key pillar of AGS A's new strategic plan is to recruit a larger workforce and promote hospitality career opportunities abroad to attract worldwide more potential candidates for the industry.
