

East Coast Eazy Has What It Takes To Go Mainstream

Los Angeles, California Sep 14, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - East Coast Eazy is an aspiring artist with success on his mind. His story starts in Romania. Here he was living in one room with 11 others until he was 28 days old. He was adopted and taken to America with his new family for a fresh start. It was at this time he learned to find out who he was and music was the catalyst for that. His talent was discovered at a very unlikely time. After standing up a date of his he decided to create an apology as a song. Others were impressed by the song and East Coast Eazy knew then that he had an unseen talent. After that experience, he began to write more content and record the records on his computer. The more attention he received the more it fueled him to keep creating and he did just that. It took many years for him to hone in and discover his signature sound. Music is always changing and there are trends, but he wishes to keep his diversity. He also owes some success to his DJ (Dj Eric C). He has played a major role in his life.

East Coast Eazy has songs for all vibes and all listeners. His music is versatile and relatable. When creating a new record he has a very rigorous way of going about finding the “perfect” song. He has to listen to the beat at least 50 times to see if it passes the test each time. He states “I made it up myself. If I can play a beat 50 times and still like it enough to write to it afterward my opinion is the average person will listen to it themselves more than twice. Once the topic of the song is discovered I think of all my personal experiences about the topic, I think about what happened to me that day, a week before that, a month before that, and months before that. Then I’ll begin to write once I have processed all my thoughts”. He also states “I’ve coached myself a lot over the years and just don’t overthink. That’s the worst place, in my opinion, an artist could be, is in their heads because that’s when you stop growing as an individual which stunts your growth as an artist”.

Currently, he has a ton of new releases for his fans to enjoy. His track “Problem” is a track he believed is radio ready and could give him his break into the industry. His other releases include “Bad One”, “Hold You Down”, “On Ice” and “Warface”. These songs have their vibes and would be enjoyed by all listeners. His manager Brandon is currently working on bookings for East Coast Eazy. He and his manager Brandon are eager to set up future goals such as a tour and other business ventures to catapult the brand. They are highly anticipating working with Syslo Ventures located in Miami at the beginning of 2023 taking them to the next level. This is his time and he will not miss it.
