

Get Yourself the Indie-Rock Vibes With ‘Back When’, an Impressive Work by Lazy Projector

The Kansas City-based band Lazy Projector is offering some compelling vibes. And their supremely crafted song ‘Back When’ is a part of their sophomore album.

Kansas City, Sep 9, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - In 2018, Lazy Projector was formed and since then they have been working on some extremely elevating music. They have started their journey with their debut album ‘evoco’. After gathering some appreciation they are now back with another extremely well-crafted album titled ‘Future Fiction’. And ‘Back When’ is the second song of this album, soaked in some gripping indie-rock music. This song is written by Aaron Michael Shinn and Tell Eugene Pryor and has been produced by the group.

Starting their journey from Kansas City, their music has traveled the world and has been cherished by many. The album was dropped on 19th August 2022. After the widely positive reaction to their first released album now they have indulged in some more indie-rock vibes. The band has five members Aaron Shinn on vocals & guitar, Tell Pryor on guitar, Dustin Mott on drums, Luke Caddy on bass, and Jonny Ulasien on keyboard. They have played extremely well which is why the album became insanely famous within a very short time.

In this album you will have 10 songs and every music lover will love the vibes of each of these numbers, which are ‘Crisin’, ‘Back When’, ‘Hookworms’, ‘Maybe’, ‘Call It a Name’, ‘Slide’, ‘I Don’t Mind’, ‘Windows’, ‘Careless Tongue’, and ‘Sightseer’. And every track will make fall for their seamless craft. Being an emerging band they have been offering some enchanting aura through their music. Lazy Projector will soon be back with more gripping music in the upcoming days.
