"I have been working with Nanogreen for a couple of years and watched how their organisation has put both the environment and people first. When we started our discussion about the acquisition it absolutely aligned to my goals and now working alongside Chris and Craig, we can make both Krypton and Nanogreen a formidable force for good while delivering high service levels." said John Richards, Founder at Krypton Environmental.

Positive customer impact

Clients have already benefitted from Nanogreen's recent acquisition, providing a comprehensive service and valued addition to their existing supply chain, reducing administration and cost with services all under one roof. Additionally existing Krypton Environmental Clients will not notice much in the way of changes, however, they will also benefit from the ethos and values of Nanogreen in terms of reducing the environmental impact of Krypton and working to provide opportunities and social value to their existing services as well as an experienced soft facility management company to work strategically on contracted services and emergency call outs.

Nanogreen can offer the following services:

- Specialist Commercial Cleaning
- Contract Cleaning – including but not limited to Education, Housing Associations, Manufacturing, and Distributions.
- Full Washroom Services – including water management systems

"This has been a game changer for Nanogreen and Krypton. We have been truly fortunate in finding an organisation so enthusiastic and dedicated as Krypton, thanks to John and his efforts." said Chris Horgan, Director, Nanogreen. "Their alignment to our ways of working and future to provide businesses of Swindon and all of Wiltshire with either a suite of services or using any one of our offerings to complement an existing contract."

Social Impact and Environmental change form our non-negotiable values.

Since 2014 Nanogreen has focused on providing environmentally friendly cleaning to an industry typically focused on harsh chemicals and overuse of bleach. Following three years of working with organizations and employing or providing work placements for those who have had barriers to employment, Social Impact has enabled us to provide a more focused and comprehensive approach to sustainability following the UN's sustainability goals introduced in recent years.

"Krypton not only provides valued added services to our combined client base, but it also provides our companies with an extra opportunity to change industries and help clients who are aligned to our values to reinvent their corporate social responsibility; for a fairer, cleaner society as a valuable part of their procurement chain." Said Craig Duff, Director at Nanogreen. "We look forward to our continued growth and our journey in facilities management alongside the new members of our Nanogreen Family."
