

Singer-Songwriter Aretha Henry has released new RnB single, Full Gusto

Los Angeles, California Sep 6, 2022 (issuewire.com) - Aretha Henry has released a new single titled Full Gusto. It's a hopelessly romantic, fun song about hoping to fall in love. This single is hot on the heels of her single release, Lovely, in January. Full Gusto says "Make this worth my while" in a seductively sweet and playful manner.

Aretha Henry was born in Jackson Mississippi. She was raised in Camden Mississippi along with her two sisters. The singer-songwriter graduated in 2000 from Velma Jackson High School in Camden MS. She would later attend the University of Southern Mississippi where she would sing hooks for local artists in her free time. After an extended break from her studies, she went back to school and graduated in 2020.

Aretha began recording her debut album in 2008. The album was released in 2010. Fan favorites from the album include the songs I Want You and My Baby. Her sophomore album, Enchanted, was released in 2012. The single, Captive, did well on both the Indie and R&B charts. Her third studio album, Superhuman, was released in 2014. The single, Masterpiece, captured hearts and imaginations with its poetic and inspiring lyrics. The singer-songwriter released her fourth studio album, Mrs. Jones, in May 2019. Fan favorites from the album include Hollywood and Bless Your Judgmental Heart.
