Active Food Chooses BatchMaster To Enhance Operational Efficiency

Neuchatel, Switzerland Sep 27, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - The two-year-long pandemic was a period of immense business disruption. Switzerland-based food manufacturer Active Food responded to these business challenges by rethinking its business methods and supply chain. In the middle of 2020, they set out on the quest to find a future-proof ERP Software that could streamline their operations, optimize their processes and redesign their workflows. Their search came to a fruitful conclusion after a call with the executives at BatchMaster.

Active Food was previously using SAP Business One on SQL, which was not fulfilling the entirety of its present-day business needs. They started searching for a software suite with MPS/MRP functionalities along with batch production, formulation, new product development, quality control, and production planning capabilities. After scouting for almost two years, Active Food eventually found a BatchMaster Manufacturing's add-on with SAP Business One, which was the perfect fit.

Along with the primary requirements listed above, Active Food was also looking for some industry-specific functionalities for its health supplement and nutraceutical operations. Which, BatchMaster Manufacturing with SAP Business One is equipped with APS (Advanced Planning and scheduling) for downtime management, sampling management, and NC/CAPA. The company's requirement for multiple language support (mainly French) was also fulfilled by BatchMaster.

After much deliberation on the issue of inventory, Active Food opted to implement BatchMaster WMS \(Warehouse Management System\), which will enable them to trace the movement of stock using barcodes and assist in the process of labelling. BatchMaster's Managing Director, Mr. Sanjay Panjwani said, "We are ecstatic that clients from the European region are showing their trust in our product.
