

Two Authors..... One Vision....

Indie authors , husband and wife ready to take on any challenge. Meet the Nesca's.

San Diego, California Sep 15, 2022 (IssueWire.com) - Screamin Skull recently launched its newest book, Calabritto, written by Tony Nesca. Calabritto is a novel about a mountain village in central Italy taking place in the early seventies. Full of eccentric characters that weave their stories in and around each other. The story is mesmerizing drawing the reader into a tragic comedy portraying human experience in its truth.

Author Tony Nesca's style is a classic free-flow whose work cannot be deemed 'conventional' by anyone's standards. Alongside his wife and Author Nicole Nesca, they continue to face the challenge of society's views on "Indie Authors" and why they both refuse to change their style of writing where they feel truth ultimately will prevail.

Prior to meeting Nicole, Tony had to overcome the challenges of getting a publisher to take his books and him seriously. He is not the conventional writer nor does he want to be. Tony writes from the heart, from experiences, and from the truth. Tony decides to start his own publishing company, Screamin Skull Press who's name is suitable for the anger he felt every time he dealt with a publisher who felt his style was too truthful and a bit risqué for their company.

Writing must tell the truth, although we may not want to know the truth, it should not be fabricated. Both

Tony and Nicole have a huge mission in common, stop changing your style to the expectations placed on you by the "big guys", because by doing so, you are not a true writer.

Together, the literature community must stop changing its style to meet the conventional expectations, instead must work together to create a rebellious future where literature can have its own style and freedom of expression.

Writers that cater to the whims of mainstream publishers who's the major focus is to market and to sell to the masses, are writers that Tony and Nicole have never been nor want to be.

With a total of 19 published works between the two, they are gearing up for their tour through the US. In addition, they have a YouTube Channel in the works and are working with their publicist on guest appearances on various platforms and publications.

If you are interested in having them as a guest in your podcast or setting up an interview please contact their PR, Coralyn Jewel. They are also available for book signing events and might be in your city during 2023.

Every industry has its challenges and obstacles to overcome. Being an Indie author has similarities to a career in the adult industry. The judgment must stop across all professions and realize that if we were all the same then our future generations will never be given the opportunity to excel and be accepted as unique and talented each in their own way.
