

Uplifting Women and Giving The Much Needed Platform, The Women Agenda Podcast Is Exactly What The World Needs!

West Yorkshire, United Kingdom Sep 26, 2022 (IssueWire.com) - In a patriarchal world, women are often devalued and have to overcome a lot more hurdles to achieve the success and similar fame that the men in this society get. Keeping this in mind, the Women Agenda Podcast is here to give a platform to all the women who are struggling or making progress in their careers or real life. Filled with unheard stories which need appreciation are celebrated in this podcast.

If the struggles of men and women are compared, even in the 21st century the part of women will feel heavier. Today's world, even though a lot of progress has been made, is far from achieving gender equality in terms of opportunities and treatment. In This situation, the Women Agenda Podcast is a platform for those underprivileged women who want their stories to be out in the world. In this podcast, female talent in all career fields such as music, literature, and other fields is promoted and celebrated. The podcast holds interviews with these talented women and gives their talent a promotional boost that they deserve. It also shares important news to keep the women updated.
