The book, released in August 2021, is written in a direct narrative style, looking at biblical references and talks about more than two thousand verses in the Old Testament and the New Testament in the Bible that direct everyone to help the poor and needy.

Garnering favourable response since its release, the book will participate in the 2022 Frankfurt International Book Fair, held in Frankfurt, Germany. "I'm really excited that my book is being showcased at such a magnificent event. It is certainly a great platform to meet other writers and professionals associated with the publishing industry. Called To Help The Poor and Needy is close to my heart as it speaks about a subject that I truly care about." Said, Patricia.

Filled with positive messages, the book is a beautiful read that reiterates God's will to help others, give to the less fortunate, serve the needy, and find abundance in yourself. The writer, a spiritual director, aims to help readers live their lives with pride, following God's command. "In the bible, God instructs us to always extend a helping hand to people in need. More than 2000 verses in the bible about helping the poor and needy highlight the importance of this subject and how important it is to the creator. The book focuses on donating money; this call challenges us to get to know them, to help where they need help, to value them, and to love them. The book is an impassioned plea for us to treat them as neighbours."
