

Experience Haus, London Introduces a New Design Leadership Course

Experience Haus comes with an New Design Leadership Course for junior, senior, or working professionals.

Walthamstow, London Oct 18, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - If you are here, you ought to be ready to take the next step on your career ladder. Well, we have great news for you! At Experience Haus, whether you are into digital product design, UI/UX design, or product management, our design leadership course will help you escalate from where you are in your professional life.

In the words of our alumni Brendon Murray, UX designer, “It really feels like EH is building a community rather than just churning through students. The in-house team and instructors are genuinely interested in your success.”

First, let us Identify if This Course is for you

Are you a creative professional in a junior, senior, or somewhere-in-between position that wants to take the next step to excel? If yes, then this course is for you! Unlike, all of our design courses in London, this course does not teach design skills. Rather, it prepares you for leading position responsibilities such as team building, strategizing, analyzing, delivering, and performing design critiques, the art of communication, design representation, overcoming imposter syndrome, and more. Moreover, it helps you acquire the required skills at a lead level so you can forge forward.

Course Duration

The best part about this design leadership course is that it is scheduled twice a week in our Shoreditch studio to accommodate working professionals. It stretches across 6 weeks on a part-time basis from 6:30 pm to 8:30 pm London time. You will be enrolled for Monday and Wednesday classes or Tuesday and Thursday classes depending on your start date.

Syllabus

As mentioned before, it is 6 weeks course with pre-course reading, a sign-up process, and also after-course support. Week 1 covers orientation, the introduction of leadership, workbook activities, and more. Weeks 2 and 3 focus on business strategy and work culture. You'll learn to scrutinize your competitors and their strategies while developing a strategic mindset of your own. Further, you will also learn to take and give criticisms, empower teams and navigate changes in work culture.

In the following two weeks, you will work on team building and learn about OKRs. In the final week, you learn to create an impact by influencing the team with your knowledge and expertise, defining future journeys, and more.

Lastly, you also get access to portfolio clinics, workshops with industry experts, Q&A with recruiters, and career advice after course completion.

The End Result

Throughout the course, you will complete a number of hands-on, practical exercises that are all contained in a specifically created Experience Haus workbook. The tasks in this workbook will help you prepare to become a design lead.

The Industry Benefits

The biggest advantage of our courses is that they are up-to-date with the latest industrial standards hence when you are out in the market, you are ready are more prepared to mitigate business design needs skillfully.
