hematology/oncology, Dr. Weltz was formerly affiliated with the LifeBridge Health Alvin & the Former Medical Director of Palliative Medicine Lois Lapidus Cancer Institute in Baltimore, Maryland.

The Alvin & Lois Lapidus Cancer Institute offers the most advanced diagnosis and treatment for a wide range of cancers. Sinai and Northwest hospitals' vision of multidisciplinary oncology care places the patient and family at the center of a coordinated set of services and specialists who work on behalf of the patient. The institute offers one of the region's most sophisticated array of services for cancer patients.

Before embarking on his professional journey, Dr. Weltz earned his Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine degree from the Kansas City University of Medicine & Bioscience in 1973. He then went on to complete his residency in internal medicine and his fellowship in hematology & medical oncology at the Walter Reed National Military Medical Center with post-doctoral training at the National Cancer Institute Division of Cancer Treatment in Clinical Pharmacology at the NCI.

Furthermore, he holds a Master of Public Health degree (MPH) from Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health, as well as a Master of Business Administration degree (MBA) at Carey Business School Johns Hopkins, and is a Certified Hospital Medical Director (HMDC) as per the American Board of Internal Medicine.

Passionate about his profession, the doctor is board-certified in hematology, medical oncology, hospice & palliative medicine, and internal medicine by the American Board of Internal Medicine.

Achieving fellowship status, Dr. Weltz is a Fellow of the American College of Physicians (FACP), and a Fellow of the American Academy of Hospice and Palliative Medicine (FAAHPM). He is also an active member of the American Society of Clinical Oncology (ASCO).

Hematology is the branch of medicine concerned with the study of the cause, prognosis, treatment, and prevention of diseases related to blood. Oncology is a branch of medicine that deals with the prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of cancer. A hematologist-oncologist is a physician who specializes in the diagnosis, treatment, or prevention of cancer, malignant blood diseases such as leukemia, lymphoma, and multiple myeloma, and blood disorders such as iron-deficiency anemia, clotting abnormalities, hemophilia, and sickle-cell disease.

As a testament to his success, Dr. Weltz has been the recipient of the Patients' Choice Award (2020), On-Time Doctor Award (2020), and Compassionate Doctor Recognition (2020). Additionally, he has been awarded the Nelson Marquis Lifetime Achievement Award for Medical Hematology and Medical Oncology (2013) and Top Doc (2022) from Top Doctor Awards.
