

Newest Invention of Birdfy - Topnotch Bird Feeder You Cannot Miss

Los Angeles, California Nov 30, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - Birdfy, a professional bird feeder designer which has received unanimous praise from consumers, is making its way to bring the game to the next level. News has come out that Netvue, the company that created "Birdfy", has invented a powerful add-on accessory on your video bird feeder for a more enjoyable & creative bird-feeding experience.

Netvue's newest invention "Perch Pro" has been revealed recently with the slogan "The Pro Extension for Your Birdfy to Serve All Kinds of Birds!" Just as the slogan describes, Perch Pro is here to solve the sore spot of bird feeders in the current market. Many widely discussed concerns about having a bird feeder are now taken care of by the thriving brand.

We investigated the current needs of bird lovers and found out that there are several improvements that they hoped for. These improvements include:

- To attract more birds
- Waterproof & anti-skied
- To be easier to install and clean

Perch Pro successfully satisfies every item on the list with multiple other improvements that bird lovers didn't even notice in the beginning. But once one tries it, there's no way to go back to the old way.

More specific & professional to attract more birds | More friendly for novices

As you may already know, different kinds of birds have their own taste and preferences. Even though mixed bird food can do the job, it's more likely to attract different kinds of birds by adopting various foods and fruits.

Orioles, Cardinals, and Finches prefer fruits, while Woodpeckers, Chickadees, and Jays may find that suet is more interesting. With Perch Pro, one can easily add fruit, suet, and other ingredients into separate holders, like a buffet with more options just for birds. One can even set a minibar aside just for birds with special tastes, such as Mini hummingbirds.

DIY your own recipe for more fun | Getting creative

Getting tired of the same blended food every time? Don't worry, now there's a chance for you to DIY your own recipes and try them out. More food holders mean more ways to conduct experiments to see what kinds of food may attract birds and which kind of food pairing is more nutritious.

Now it's time to not just sit behind the Birdfy camera and see your little guest coming and going. You can do more by creating different mixes and matches with various types of bird food and finding out the differences it makes!

More room for more birds | Time to have an all-season party for the "guests"

One of the problems that most bird feeders have is that most bird feeders have limited room for birds. The problem can be easily fixed by simply adding an extra assessor to extend the space for birds to eat. Setting apart different foods may end up having more than one "guest" at your little party.

During winter or rainy seasons, slippery and coldness can be the top two obstacles attracting birds. By continuing the previous advantages, Perch Pro once again brings water-proof and anti-skied in itself. It is the right choice for one who lives in a rainy region or during rainy seasons. Water will not freeze and cause slippery when there is rain and snow. It is the perfect haven for birds in such conditions with abundant food and a nice shelf overhead.

Easy to install & clean | No worries about getting messy all the time

Birds excrete often and food can get messy. Therefore, it may appear to be dirty and unsanitary if one doesn't clean bird feeders on a regular basis. However, most bird feeders on the market are not making the task easier. Perch Pro takes it into consideration and comes up with a design to be more convenient to clean things up. Since the product is made of plastic and water-proof, simple scrubbing with a cloth can quickly fix the problem.

Conclusion

Perch Pro has three holders for different foods and fruits to meet consumers' needs. Other than that, it has a lovely spot for one to put on a welcome card, making the whole bird feeder homier. Consumers can design their own welcome cards to have a cute or graceful appearance for bird feeders. The newest invention is now available on Amazon and the company's website with more details such as parameters and common Q&As. A thoughtful product to ease consumers' minds like Perch Pro surely will enrich one's bird-feeding experience.
