NFT Marketplace and Launchpad on Arbitrum

New York City, New York Nov 7, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - With Arbitrum becoming the new hype whilst still in its early stages of developing new utilities are arising every day. With that being said, we give you Arbit Place. Arbitrums first NFT Marketplace/ Token launchpad. Let us begin with the launch of our native token APLACE. This token will be used to bring our community together while playing a major role in our utility.

Supply: 1 Billion

Tax: 6% Buy 6% Sell

Tax Break down

2% of the tax will go towards our liquidity to ensure stability as we grow.

4% of the tax will go towards development marketing and competitions for our community.

Shortly after the launch of our native token, we will launch our NFT marketplace along with a limited supply of the first-ever Arbit Place Nfts. The market place and NFTs will fund the further development of our utilities. The first set of NFTs will be limited as they will play a part in our launchpad. There will only be 1000 NFTs in this mint. We will explain how the NFT will be important for the launchpad in the details below. Don't worry though, this will be the first of many collections brought to you by Arbit Place as we simultaneously grow to become the home of many newly minting collections, secondary trading, and verified safe token launches.

Once the marketplace is complete and our first mint is successful we will start the development of our second utility! The second utility will be the Arbit Place launch pad! With our launchpad, new projects will be able to safely raise funds to ensure a successful launch for both developers and investors. Project developers who wish to launch using our launchpad must complete an audit, along with KYC, and must lock their project's liquidity pool using our token locker to ensure our communities safe. We will also make our locker public when it's ready to generate funds to buy back APLACE.

The launchpad will play a very important role in the strength of our native token and 100 limited edition NFT's. Holders of our limited edition NFTs'S and native tokens will have the ability to stake APLACE to earn APLACE and have an automatic whitelist to take part in any presales held on the Arbit Place Launchpad.

Once the launchpad is released there will be multiple tiers to ensure every holder has a chance to take part in the presales. This being said one thing that is guaranteed is our limited edition NFT holders will automatically be eligible for the highest tier. So make sure you do not miss the opportunity to pick up a limited edition NFT! There will be 100 limited edition NFTs'S out of 1000 giving you a 10% chance to get one each time you mint!

Welcome to Arbitrum one of the most robust chains at this time.
