

Secret Chinese Police Stations in London

Exclusive interview with Mr Lin, the CEO of Eat All APP, that has been accused by local media of operating a secret Chinese Police Station in London

London, United Kingdom Nov 21, 2022 (IssueWire.com) - It has been reported recently in the media, that the Chinese Government is operating three secret Chinese police stations in the United Kingdom. One of the locations is affiliated with local Chinese businessman Mr. Ruiyou Lin who is the CEO of All Eat APP and is also the chairman of the UK Fujianese Association.

In a recent interview released on YouTube, Mr. Lin dismissed these claims as nonsense propaganda, which he feels has been triggered by the success of his food delivery APP 'All Eat, as it undercuts the market and caused much concern by the competition. He said, "As our zero-commission operation mode has disrupted the business of our competitors, I suspect that some competitors have seen the news, and then cooperated with some Chinese-racism groups to slander and persecute me and the British Chinese community."

These rumors were formulated as his business address appeared on websites and social media as one of the secret police stations in the UK. He explained that during the pandemic many Chinese UK residents were affected and unable to return back to China to renew their driver's licenses. As a community leader, Mr. Lin assisted Chinese UK residents to navigate the online portal to renew their driver's licenses on their phones. However, in helping his local community, the media and conspiracy theorists made malicious rumors targeting him personally and his business.

This caused him and his staff much mental anguish, as they started to receive threats and calls of harassment at his office. He operates a multicultural working environment that employs staff from India, Hong Kong, and Taiwan, the staff commented they have not seen any suspicious activities, and politics is never discussed in the office. Mr. Lin commented in the interview, "My own company has employees from Hong Kong, Taiwan, mainland China, India, the United Kingdom, and all over the world. Every employee has a different cultural background and different political views. We work together as a team every day, we have good relationships, and these employees find this news absurd."

Other local businesses in the area, that know Mr. Lin also was interviewed and vouched for him being a kind and good local businessman, who often is seen with his family in the area. They had no reason to suspect him of any wrongdoing, and a campaigner of Safe Croydon Mr. Joseph, who owns a market stall in Surrey Street market was also shocked by the rumours targeting Mr. Lin and the Chinese community as a whole. He said they were peaceful people.

Is this another failed attempt to intimidate a member of the Chinese community or is there a more sinister agenda to sabotage his food delivery APP business, by competitors in the market, who have a monopoly on the industry and do not welcome a zero commission competitor, as it will destroy their market share, you decide to watch the video here <https://youtu.be/flhXCtmjEcQ>
