

Simonsarkis Ulubabov, RN, a Registered Nurse with Nassau University Medical Center

Get to know Registered Nurse, Simonsarkis Ulubabov, who serves patients in East Meadow, New York.

New York City, New York Nov 7, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - Simonsarkis is a registered nurse working at Nassau University Medical Center in East Meadow, New York. It is a teaching hospital that has been the primary source of medical care in Nassau County since 1935.

In order to provide his patients with the best care, he specializes in floor nursing, trauma surgery, telemetry, and supervision.

In regard to his educational background, Simonsarkis earned his nursing degree from Queensborough Community College in 2012. He then went on to earn his Bachelor of Science in Nursing degree and his Master of Science in Nursing degree from Saint Joseph's University in 2018 and 2022, respectively.

Continuously advancing his efforts, he is a professional member of the International Society for Rapid Response Systems and the American Heart Association.

A Registered Nurse (RN) is a nurse who has graduated from a nursing program and met the requirements outlined by a country, state, province, or similar licensing body to obtain a nursing license. RNs fulfill a variety of job duties. In addition to their primary role in treating and caring for patients, their responsibilities also include educating patients and the public about a variety of medical conditions, as well as providing emotional support and advice to the families of their patients. Other RN job functions include leadership, research, performing diagnostic tests and analyzing results, operating medical equipment, administering medications, recording patients' symptoms and medical histories, and assisting with patient rehabilitation and follow-up.

On a more personal note, Simonsarkis attributes his success to his workplace and the support from them. He would like to thank his father, Leon Ulubabov, and his co-workers, Billy McCrystal, Elliot Surrias, Mary Ellen Comiskey, Joann Kurtz, and Janice Pateres.

As a child, he was admitted to the hospital where his father worked to have his tonsils removed. When his father walked into the room with his scrubs on, Simonsarkis knew at that moment that he wanted to be in healthcare just like his father.

His advice to those just starting would be to follow your heart. "If the setting is not right for you, you'll find the place that is."

Learn More about Simonsarkis Ulubabov:

Through his online profile, <https://todaysnurse.org/network/index.php?do=/4149049/info/>

Media Contact

Your Health Contact

clientservice@yourhealthcontact.com

Source : Simonsarkis Ulubabov, RN

See on IssueWire