Featherweight 33-0 will fight in South Korea on Manny Pacquiao's undercard. Mendoza will face his biggest challenge so far in Sequel South Korea facing opponent Cristian Ruben Mino 22-7-2 from Argentina. Mendoza undefeated boxer grew up in Pecos and Odessa, Texas, and was introduced to boxing by his father when he was 8 years old. His mother grew up on a ranch in Mexico and was unable to attend college. By becoming a professional boxer and college student, Mendoza says he's trying to live out both of his parents' dreams. Mendoza managed to reach 35 wins with no manager or promoter. "I'm not against having a manager or a promoter. I've just been for the perfect connection".

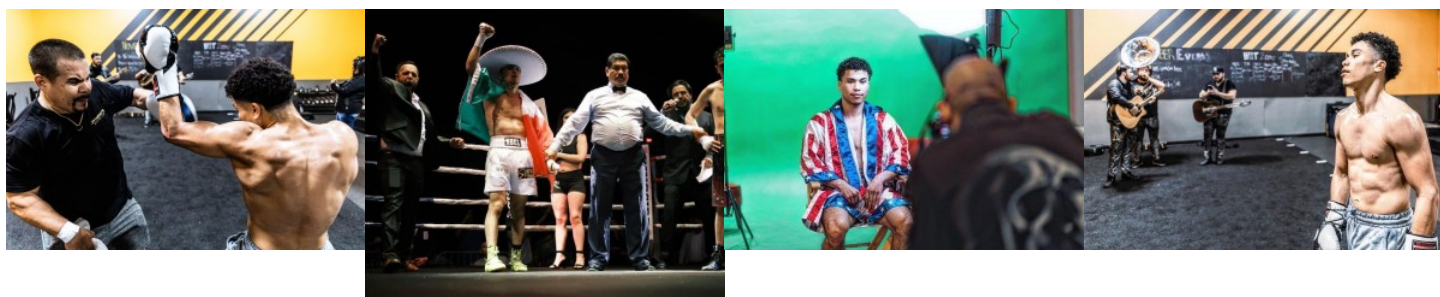

Mendoza has won the WBC regional featherweight title, the American Boxing Federation Continental American Feather title, and other multiple titles. It has been my dream of Mendoza to be featured in such a legendary fight card. Mendoza says Pacquiao was his boxing idol growing up and says it's a dream come true to fight on his undercard. The impressive 33-0 Boxer is looking to make the biggest fights happen in 2023. Mendoza considers himself 35-0 as two fights he did in Mexico this year have not been put in his Boxrec. "I try to get those fights in my Boxrec. I'm not sure why they're not there. Those fights were with highly reputable opponents. Mendoza has been a pro boxer since 2016 and has averaged 4-5 fights a year. Within each fight, he has managed to face a more difficult opponent. "I'm up for the challenge, I'll fight anyone in my division. I won't back down from anyone". The Manny Pacquiao exhibition bout is on December 10 in Seoul, South Korea brought to you by Triller Fight Club and can be seen on PPV FITE TV, 7 P.M. PT, 10 P.M. ET. Also on the undercard- Powered by Future Stars Min Wook Kim, Sean Garcia, Nico Hernandez, Jose Castillo Jr, and Maurice Lee.
