Get to know Family Nurse Practitioner, Jacqueline Savanna Boles, who serves patients in Seattle, Washington.

New York City, New York Dec 22, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - Jacqueline is a certified family nurse practitioner focusing on children with special needs. She is currently the Director of Family and Health Services at Tiny Tots Development Center in Seattle, Washington.

Serving the Rainier Valley and Greater Seattle area, Tiny Tots Development Center is an early learning center that was founded by Jacqueline's mother in 1969. It provides childcare services, preschool, and early childhood education in a nurturing environment.

The staff strives to guide children's social-emotional, physical, cognitive, and language development through their use of carefully selected curriculum materials, classroom activities, field trips, family involvement, as well as support programs and presentations.

A native of Seattle, Jacqueline is a 1990 graduate of James A. Garfield High School, a 1994 graduate of Hampton University in Virginia, and a 1999 graduate of Seattle University. She also holds Bachelor's and Master of Science degrees in Nursing.

A Family Nurse Practitioner (FNP) is an advanced practice registered nurse who works autonomously or in collaboration with other healthcare professionals, to deliver family-focused care. Given the rather broad nature of the "family" patient population focus, FNP's offer a wide range of healthcare services that revolve around the family unit; from health promotion and disease prevention to direct care and counseling across the lifespan.

Jacqueline is the daughter of the late Bishop James E. Hicks and the late Missionary Helen B. Hicks, Founders of the Unity Church of God In Christ. She had a calling upon her life from her birth, as her mother almost suffered a miscarriage of her several times before she came into this world in 1972. Jacqueline has fond memories of being a Pastor's kid, being raised in the church, and working for the Lord at an early age. She has worked in every capacity of the church, preparing her for her role today as First Lady, President of the Women's Department, and the Praise and Worship Coordinator for the Redeemed by the Blood Pentecostal Church.

Happily married, she and her husband have 1 daughter and 5 sons.
