“The strength of our team lies in coordinating care for our patients from different specialties, making it easy for the patient to go through the surgical phase. The members of the surgical team communicate well with one another to provide a safe environment for the patients to undergo their procedures. We are constantly looking for ways to improve our systems” expressed the doctor.

Back in 1977, Dr. Vyas graduated with her medical degree from King George’s Medical University in India. She then went on to perform her internship in anesthesiology at Baptist Medical Center, and her residency in anesthesiology at Oklahoma Health Science Center. After completing her medical training, Dr. Vyas served as an assistant professor in cardiac anesthesia at Southwestern Medical Center in Dallas, then decided to move to California.
