

Wand releases its no-code AI platform

Ramat Hasharon, Tel Aviv Dec 22, 2022 (IssueWire.com) - Wand today announced the release of the first version of its AI platform.

Wand is a no-code AI platform that allows technical and non-technical users to build AI solutions 100x faster and cheaper than any other method, with state-of-the-art results. Wand charges on computing - no upfront licensing fee. Pilots are not necessary as users can try the platform and create value quickly: <https://bit.ly/3VGAKsZ>

In terms of differentiation, Wand offers:

- end-to-end AI platform
- automated, self-service build, test, and run
- centralized management and control of all AI solutions
- ROI estimator
- collaboration and results sharing.

Wand users are data analysts, business analysts, product owners, and heads of functional units. They have access to large data sets but struggle to identify signals and produce calls-to-actions and value with existing tools. And because their knowledge of AI might be limited, they are not able to create fast and impactful value from AI. Wand simply gives them AI superpowers and allows them to create solutions quickly and with tangible results.

Wand's CEO, Rotem Alaluf, said: "We're extremely excited to launch our first public version. Wand is the first use case-agnostic AI platform that allows all users to deploy AI at a rapid scale and generate significant ROI by increasing revenues, decreasing cost, and improving compliance."
