Double Station Blow Molding Machine Supplier - GS Machinery

At GS Machinery, we pride ourselves on being a leading supplier of double-station blow molding machines. Double station blow molding machine With over 30 years of experience in the industry, we have the knowledge and expertise to provide our customers with the best possible products and services.

Double station blow molding machines are specially designed for the production of hollow plastic products. The machine consists of two stations, each with its own extruder and die. The two stations are interfaced with a set of rotating molds. The molten plastic is first extruded into a preform at one station. The preform is then transferred to the other station where it is blown into the final shape.

The main advantage of this type of machine is that it can produce products with much higher accuracy and consistency than single-stage machines. In addition, it can also be used to produce products with very thin walls.

We offer a wide range of double-station blow molding machines to meet the specific needs of our customers. If you are not sure which machine is right for your application, our team of experts can help you choose the perfect machine for your requirements.
