

A Marketplace fyndsupplier.com is launched to sever multi-billion dollar oil and gas chemical market

Online Marketplace is launched to for oil and gas industry for easy and cost-effective chemical procurement

Aberdeen, Scotland Feb 1, 2023 (Issuewire.com) - Release of oil and gas chemical marketplace, fyndsupplier.com

1st February 2023: Fyndsupplier.com is an online marketplace owned by Petroleumsoft Limited, a UK-based company. Petroleumsoft Limited has 16 years of experience in the oil and gas industry in the domain of chemical trade, technology solution development, and technical consultancy.

According to market research, the oil and gas chemical market is expected to grow to be worth USD 1.56 billion by 2027. The focused market of oil and gas companies faces several challenges related to the right suppliers, logistics, payment terms, and delivery.

Fyndsupplier.com has been launched today as the ONLY oil and gas chemicals marketplace for the oil and gas industry. It's an online portal that connects chemical buyers and suppliers for easy and cost-effective procurement.

The market for oil and gas chemicals is HUGE and there are a large number of chemical manufacturers and distributors serving the oil and gas companies by supplying them with required chemicals used for drilling, production, water treatment, cementing, and well stimulation operations.

In this price-sensitive chemical market, small service companies are continuously looking for new suppliers to meet their material specifications as well as target price. Finding a new trusted supplier who can meet the buyers' material specifications and the target price is key to the procurement deal.

Material quality, payment, delivery, and everything else depends upon new suppliers found online through google or any online marketplace.

It is therefore essential for chemical buyers to do thorough due diligence for any suppliers found online. There are online marketplaces who are offering general commodities but are not focused on the oil and gas chemical market and are not assured that every supplier on their portals is pre-verified.

Unlike many other existing marketplaces, fyndsupplier is a community-based but not a product-based marketplace. Fyndsupplier has been released with over 500 pre-verified suppliers from around the globe to help oil companies to procure/purchase cost-effective oil and gas chemicals. Chemical manufacturers and suppliers on find suppliers are from major oil and gas-producing countries such as the USA, UAE, Oman, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, Iraq, India, and China.

It helps oil companies, particularly chemical service companies, to procure from small manufacturers from their local and global markets to reduce their overall procurement cost, time, and logistic complexities. Whereas it helps chemical companies to maximize their sales and their market reach.

Rameshwar M Paswan, CEO of Petroleumsoft Limited, said: "This platform is the outcome of our 20 years of experience from the tread of oilfield chemicals and building trusted chemical manufacturers and distributors database, which we would like to provide to the industry for free"
