Launched in July 2017, ATO Platform’s mission is to bring true equality by providing valuable insights to artists and collectors while facilitating the collection of a new revenue stream for all visual artists (royalties on secondary market sales). Since launching, the company has worked with Prysm Group to develop its economic model of give-and-take, providing collectors with unparalleled value to understand the market demand and price of the artwork they’ve purchased. It has secured advisors and investors from Microsoft, MIT, and key art world mavens deep in the trenches of the art world. It has completed building proprietary smart contracts that track not only art resale data but all of the metrics around the work to aid in preventing a counterfeit market and complex copyright misuse. ATO Platform has secured a “US Trademark, raised over 1 million dollars (USD) in funding since its inception, and hired vital art industry, finance, A.I., and blockchain experts previously with Polkadot, UBS, Morgan Stanley, Goldman Sachs, NYU Stern Business School, Harvard University, Kellogg School of Management and more on this impressive roster of leaders. ATO Platform has registered over 600 works with close to 100 artists and growing.

“Being part of the Newchip Accelerator, we look forward to reshaping how the art industry views artists in the scope of the artwork lifecycle. We believe artists should benefit financially long-term in the future value of the work because the future value of the work is dependent on the artists’ brand and continued production, says Carrie Eldridge, Founder; “funding would mean exponential growth for the company and new jobs for marketing, sales, and engineers to advance these valuable tools for artists and collectors.
