

Echelon Offers a Different Kind of Cannabis Packaging Automation

 ECHELON

Taylor, Michigan Jan 21, 2023 (IssueWire.com) - The USA, January 20, 2023: Save your funds in the production area! In terms of design and innovation in cannabis packaging automation, Echelon is the market leader in providing the world's most accurate cannabis weighing system for the packaging of cannabis and marijuana. Organizations may increase their cannabis packaging operations and package marijuana 3–4 times more quickly than by hand, thanks to the Echelon low-profile cannabis packaging method. The Echelon's market-leading cannabis weighing system ensures that your cannabis products will be packaged accurately and efficiently and will significantly increase your cannabis packaging output. Thanks to its integrated high-performance multi-head combination scale, fragile flower handling design, and industry-leading scale accuracy of 0.0005g.

The management team said, "The Echelon cannabis weighing system has an incredible 10x higher accuracy than its nearest rival, making it the most exact equipment available today," In contrast to conventional combination weighing systems, Echelon's modular design has a tiny footprint, and can complete over 30 million weighing combinations in a split second. Echelon is equipped with proprietary artificial intelligence technology to 'learn' cannabis flowers and edibles in real-time. As a result, it can precisely weigh cannabis flower and nearly any THC-infused gummies or edible."

Words from the marketing team, "Echelon is a pioneer in the cannabis packaging sector when it comes to the study and advancement of artificial intelligence technology. Our ability to integrate AI into our weighing systems gives our clients and us a competitive edge. As a flexible, forward-thinking technology company, it enables us to stand out and set ourselves apart from our rivals truly. By enhancing productivity and efficiency while decreasing downtime from mechanical and technical concerns, our customers gain a competitive edge."
