

‘Higher Lower’ A New Way To Play Daily Fantasy Sports!

Fantasy Sports Platform, Phantasia Sports, Introduces a new Daily Fantasy Sports game mode ‘Higher Lower’ to Enhance User Experience

HigherLower

Pick a side of the stat line

Chicago, Illinois Jan 23, 2023 (Issuewire.com) - Phantasia Sports, a leading fantasy sports platform, is excited to announce the introduction of this new game mode, where users build a team of players based on how they think the athletes will perform. You'll compete against your friends by predicting whether a player will score higher or lower than their projected stat line. These can include anything from the number of touchdowns scored in a football game to the number of hits in a baseball game by a certain player. This is an innovative way to play daily fantasy sports, allowing players to participate by making simple and quick decisions. The addition of 'Higher Lower' will allow users to make even more informed decisions and add an extra level of excitement to their fantasy sports experience.

Phantasia Sports will offer this new DFS game mode for all major sports, giving users even more opportunities to win big. This feature will be available to all users on Phantasia Sports' website and mobile app. Users will be able to place their selections using virtual currency, competing against up to ten players, with the option to cash out their winnings at any time. By playing on Phantasia Sports, users will save 15%+ on fees, receive instant payouts, and have the ability to win prizes without having a perfect set of picks.

Phantasia Sports is always committed to providing all users with a safe and secure environment. The site conforms to stringent standards and has installed stringent security measures to safeguard all transactions and user data.

The introduction of 'Higher Lower' is just the latest in a series of updates and improvements made by Phantasia Sports to enhance the user experience. The company plans to continue to innovate and introduce new features in the future.

Note: Fantasy sports are a form of online games, where players build a virtual team of professional athletes from a particular league or tournament and then earn points based on the actual performance of the players on their team.

The promotional banner for HigherLower is divided into four sections. The first section on the left features the 'HigherLower' logo with the tagline 'PICK A SIDE OF THE STAT LINE.' Below it, a smartphone displays a game interface with two players, and text reads 'PLAY MORE. PAY LESS. LOWEST FEES.' The second section shows the same logo and tagline, with a smartphone displaying a game interface and text that says 'WIN BIG PRIZES WITHOUT PERFECT PICKS'. The third section features the logo and tagline, with a smartphone displaying a game interface. The fourth section on the right shows the logo and tagline, with a smartphone displaying a game interface and a 5-star review quote: 'My new favorite game. Easy, fun, and the best opportunities to win!'.
