Featuring Fine Art by Talented African Artists

Maryland, USA - A new online art exhibition, Nothing Compares, will showcase the works of eight talented Nigerian and Ugandan artists who explore the human quest for happiness through their art. The show, which will be available online on artsy.net, will feature works by Fortune Anuforo, Nurudeen Popoola, Meshach Charity, Brian Lister Kansime, Esther Obiwure, Abiola Idowu, Arinze Ekwuide, and Godwin Adesoye.

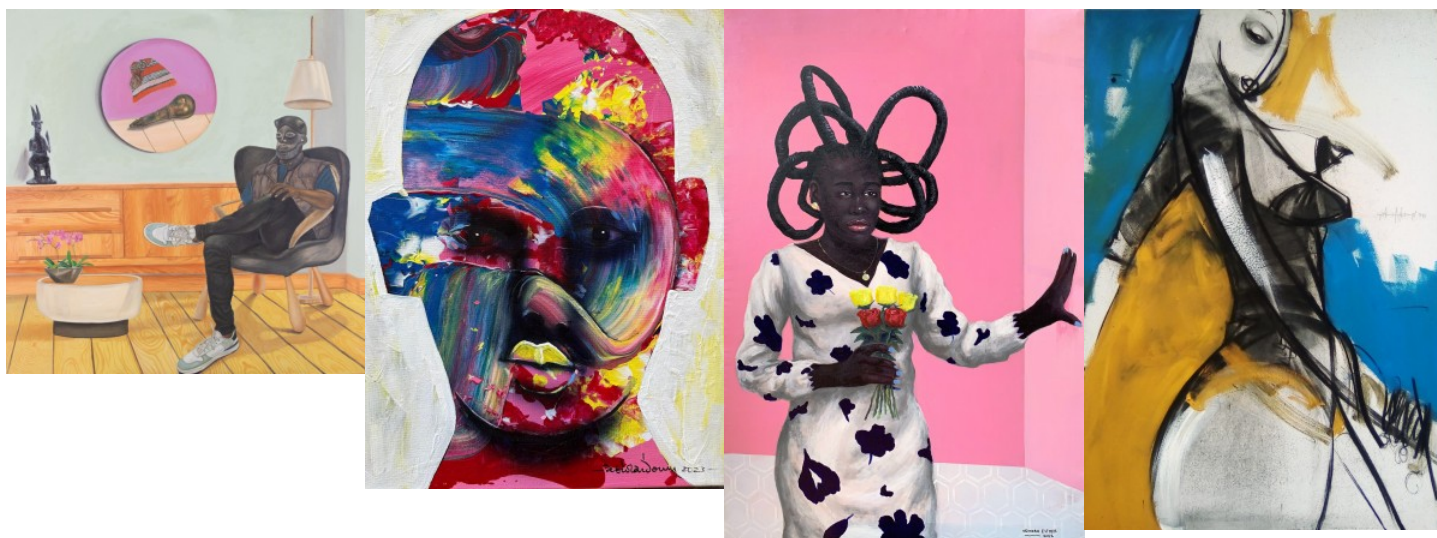

The exhibition, curated by Rodney Asikhia, Founder and head curator for Tribes Art Africa gallery (TAAG), will feature a diverse range of works including paintings, drawings, and mixed media pieces. The artists will take viewers on a journey through their interpretation of what happiness means, from the struggles and hardships that come with the quest, to the triumphs and moments of joy.

"We are thrilled to present this exhibition, which showcases the diverse perspectives and talents of some of Africa's most exciting artists," said the curator of the exhibition. "This show is not just about happiness, but about the human experience and the different paths we take to find it."

Nothing Compares is an online exhibition that will be available to view 24/7 through the month of February 2023. Art lovers, collectors, and anyone interested in the human experience are encouraged to attend the virtual exhibition.
