

TAB Street is excited to announce a milestone of 5000 vetted food allergy and gluten free listings

Baltimore, Maryland Jan 3, 2023 (issuewire.com) - TAB Street is excited to announce that we have reached a milestone number of over 5000 vetted listings of food allergy and gluten-free vetted restaurants, bakeries, and more. We verify all listings at the time of entry for food allergy listings, gluten-free also adds other special diet information when we find it. We know that for most people, making a choice to eat out is sometimes just deciding what they are in the mood for, but when you have food allergies that choice becomes a lot harder. Not knowing which restaurant works with your allergy or multiple allergies or even be willing to accommodate. Eating out can't be taken for granted for sometimes it is a necessity. Created with the food allergy user in mind, the site only lists websites that have a food allergy, and gluten-free information is available on their websites.

Why is this important? There are over 32 million people in the US alone with allergies and they range in all ages, from young to old. Those 32 million people have family and friends that don't want to exclude them from eating out adventures, road trips, and travel. So, if you just add one extra person to the 32 million you would have 64 million people who can find a listing. Plus, anyone else who are hungry needs to find a restaurant close by.

TAB Street - started out wanting to still travel and a sense of adventure both locally and on to the next vacation spot its Founder/CEO. These listings cover restaurants, bakeries, hotels, and more. This is perfect for parents, frequent travelers, grandparents, friends, and family of a person with food allergies, food intolerance, gluten-free, and Celiac disease.

TAB Street is all about empowering everyone, young and old with food allergies, gluten-free diets, and Celiac Disease. To help these millions of people with food allergies. No matter the town's size, from rural areas to the city every listing that meets the criteria qualifies. This will allow anyone (you don't need to have food allergies to use the site) to pull up tabstreet.com at home or on the road and see what is available within 100 miles (geolocation feature).

The Problem – eating out with food allergies.

- Not knowing which restaurant works with your allergy or multiple allergies
- Food allergies – Celiac Disease – food intolerances shouldn't mean that you always need to stay local
- Food allergies affect both the young and the young at heart, including an unlimited amount of family and friends

The Solution – Gathering all the researched and vetted listings into one website. The current site is the USA and the growing sites are Canada, Australia, and the United Kingdom.

Restaurants are taking notice and making changes to their website, and menus, dedicating kitchen areas, and training their staff. Plus, we have a big list that still needs to be entered so keep checking back. We aim to bring together food allergy and gluten-free folks with restaurants that have gone above and beyond and listed that information on their websites.
