

The new App of the year, Trubbled

The new, free, Social Networking community, just for Problems, however big or small. People often don't want to confide in family or friends, with Trubbled everyone can connect with people worldwide with whom they can relate to.

The advertisement features a woman in the background looking at a tablet. In the foreground, two smartphones are shown. The left phone displays the Trubbled app logo, which is a sad face icon inside a rounded square. The right phone shows the app's login and registration screen, with fields for Username/Email and Password, and buttons for Sign In and Register. A 'Forgot Password?' link is also visible. The background is a solid red color.
