Twizzler introduces three fully functional social apps based on blockchain. Currently, they have developed over ten apps to bring back freedom of speech and full control of their users' data.

London, United Kingdom Jan 8, 2023 (Issuewire.com) - Twizzler announced three fully functional social apps in the BETA stage. They are Twizzler.plus, Twizzler.fm, and Twizzler.tube. Twizzler (TWZR) is a mega-utility token created on the Binance Smart Chain (BSC). TWZR is a mega utility token offering more utilities than any other BSC project. It utilises Binance's infrastructure and allows token holders to profit from activity across the ecosystem, including multiple apps and features already to use and play.

A Twizzler spokesperson said, "Twizzler is a revolutionary social app based on blockchain. We have over ten apps in development, three of which are fully functional in the BETA stage. Our goal is to bring back freedom of speech and full control of our data thanks to our ecosystem and blockchain technology. Twizzler is available for crypto users and non-crypto users as well."

Twizzler's three fully functional social apps in the BETA stage include:

- Twizzler.plus is an alternative to the biggest social media platform, Facebook. It is Social2earn, in which users can earn points simply by sharing, liking, and commenting on the posts of their friends and followers.
- Twizzler.fm allows users to stream their favorite songs from the Twizzler ecosystem. It is a Music2earn platform and a Spotify alternative, in which users can listen to their favorite music while earning reward points.
- Twizzler.tube is an alternative to YouTube. Watch streaming videos like never before. Users can get reward points for uploading songs, listening to music, and watching videos.

"We aim to provide the best possible experience for our users, and we embrace their most innovative ideas. Twizzler's goal is to work with the best minds in crypto to create a new standard for building decentralised applications. We do not rush our product development, as it is essential for us to deliver something with longevity. Passion plays a significant role in everything we do, and we believe that it comes from our users, who are the most important part of this project." A Twizzler representative explained.
