Demonstrating Success: Insights from Our Real-World Case Studies

Rheumnow: LN Webworks recently assisted Rheumnow, a platform for patient education, research updates, and information related to the Division of Rheumatology, in revamping their website. The previous version was unresponsive and below-par in functionality. With the goal of increasing user engagement and reducing the bounce rate, LN Webworks provided a custom Drupal CMS solution to improve the user experience and streamline the process of adding, claiming, and editing profiles. The result was a highly effective and responsive website that increased conversions and provided an overall better customer experience.

RESPeRATE: LN Webworks developed an automated system for RESPeRATE, the only FDA-cleared, non-drug medical device proven to lower blood pressure. The system takes user input and provides a response based on pre-defined factors, allowing users to receive information such as BPM. LN Webworks faced challenges generating reports from multiple HTML pages into a PDF, with memory and timezone issues. They solved these problems by increasing memory limits and storing local timezone data, and also created a custom QA tool for efficient testing. LN Webworks' approach included clear flowcharts and schedulers for different messages based on user preferences. Their solution resulted in a reduced build time, lower message latency, improved performance, and faster feature releases, satisfying customer expectations.
