About The Release

Songwriter YayRaven releases the latest selection of house remixes of her previously released song "I'm Burning Hot." The idea came to her when the United Kingdom (and many other countries) were experiencing extremely hot temperatures in the summer of 2022 and the chaos and fires that came with it. The house remixes deliver the melody in various house styles from bass house to tech house, and a classic house track. There are extended versions of each - ideal for DJs.

The hooks differ with each style providing satisfying drops for the clubbing scene. These tracks can be also enjoyed while exercising and for listening whenever the mood for house music grips. Undoubtedly, her remixes EP "Burning Hot HouseX3 (The Remixes)" has all the elements to resonate with listeners, party people, and DJs and to maintain listening pleasure for house music lovers. The positive lyrics and dynamic house progressions mixed in with the female vocals by Tpeah, team up with the creative house arrangements which keep the listener engaged and wanting to press repeat. YayRaven's latest house tracks are remixes that will take any listener into an electronic house music and dance journey. Also, another house release lets her fans and followers know how much she adores house music, one of her favourite genres.

There will be a captivating visualiser music video released on YayRaven's YouTube - Official Artist Channel.
