

Dragon and Berr Announce Joining Bandcamp.com

Atlanta, Georgia Feb 1, 2023 (Issuewire.com) - The Recording artists Dragon and Berr (Edwin and Donna Millheim) have announced they have joined Bandcamp.com.

Dragon and Berr say in joining Bandcamp.com they will be able to engage more with fans. Offering insights into what inspired a song and how the lyrics came to be. (Edwin and Donna) are excited about the possibility of sharing more about the songs with fans.

Dragon and Berr are working on their upcoming 7th studio album titled “When You’ve Been Done Wrong” set to release sometime in 2023.

All of their previous full-length albums are now available on Bandcamp.com

When you think you’ve got them pegged, Dragon and Berr explode out of whatever box you’ve put them in with raw, real punk-rock offerings, then show off their flair for atmospheric tonality.

Trying to pigeonhole music by Dragon and Berr is a fool’s errand, seeing as how they purposefully zig when expected to zag, and delight in surprising fans with a new direction nobody expects them to take.

Still, with all that going on, it may be their punk sensibilities that guide their hands most. Iconoclasm is the Dragon and Berr way.

Now they have found a second home at Bandcamp.com along with other recording artists and bands from around the world.

Dragon and Berr are Edwin and Donna Millheim, a self-described “husband-and-wife American pop-punk, metal-punk, grunge-punk, country-punk, a rock band from Georgia. They are off-the-wall creatives who met much earlier in 1985 in a gaming arcade.”
