RISMedia, the leader in U.S. real estate news and information services, announced its 2023 Real Estate Newsmakers on Feb. 1, in both an online directory on RISMedia.com and in the February issue of its flagship publication, Real Estate magazine.

RISMedia's 2023 Real Estate Newsmakers were nominated in 2022 by RISMedia readers and editors and are showcased in the following categories: Influencers, Trailblazers, Futurists, Achievers, Crusaders, and Luminaries. Ige Johnson was recognized in the Trailblazer category.

"It's always so inspiring to see the incredible accomplishments of so many real estate professionals around the country and this year's group of 2023 Newsmakers takes that concept to a whole new level. From the creativity and innovation being implemented through our changing times, to industry records being broken, to the wonderful charitable work being done across the nation, we continue to be amazed by the ingenuity and success of these real estate professionals, over 300 of whom we are honoring on our sixth year of publishing Real Estate Newsmakers," said John Featherston, Founder, CEO and publisher of RISMedia.

"We are so proud every year to recognize the hard work, dedication, and determination of these finest industry professionals—the 2023 Real Estate Newsmakers—who went above and beyond in 2022 amid the challenges and opportunities of this historic market. Help us in celebrating their hard-earned recognition," Featherston added.

RISMedia will honor this year's Real Estate Newsmakers at RISMedia's Newsmakers Reception & Dinner, being held Sept. 6 at the Mayflower Hotel in Washington, D.C., in conjunction with our 2023 CEO & Leadership Exchange.

"It's an honor to be recognized as a Real Estate Newsmaker. It's always been important to me to use my work to positively affect the communities I serve and to inspire others to do the same. I am humbled and grateful for the recognition by my peers and RISMedia for the work that we do," said Johnson. "I am grateful for this recognition."
