Get to know Pharmacist and Diabetic Educator Dr. Kyle B. Rootsaert, who serves patients in San Andreas, California.

New York City, New York Feb 10, 2023 (Issuewire.com) - Dr. Rootsaert is a highly trained healthcare professional with a passion for empowering patients through education. As a board-certified advanced diabetes educator and inpatient clinical pharmacist with Dignity Health, he works in a community pharmacy setting and uses his expertise to help patients better understand and manage their conditions.

With a Doctor of Pharmacy degree from the Xavier University of Louisiana, he has been in the healthcare industry for over 25 years and has a wealth of experience in the field of diabetes education.

In addition to his day-to-day work, Dr. Rootsaert is also a leader in the field, conducting workshops on weight loss and diabetes and serving as the Program Director for an accredited diabetes self-management training center.

Pharmacy is the health science that links medical science with chemistry and it is charged with the discovery, production, control, disposal, safe and effective use of drugs. The practice of pharmacy requires excellent knowledge of drugs, their mechanism of action, side effects, interactions, mobility, and toxicity. Pharmacists, also known as chemists or druggists, are health professionals who specialize in the use of medicines, as they deal with the composition, effects, mechanism of action, and proper and effective use of drugs.
