PRP (Platelet Rich Plasma) is a treatment that uses a person's own blood to rebuild damaged tissues. Platelets in the blood contain growth factors that promote healing, and PRP treatment uses these growth factors to promote healing in the scalp and skin. PRP hair treatment has shown to be very effective for hair loss treatment, and Dr. Izharul Hasan is proud to be able to offer it to his patients.

PRP Hair Loss Treatment uses platelets and growth factors from your own blood to renew and revitalize your hair. This treatment is safe, natural, non-evasive, and non-surgical.

In addition to high levels of the platelet-derived growth factor, PRP also contains numerous bioactive proteins that are important in the healing process. Some of these include platelet-derived growth factor, transforming growth factor-beta, vascular endothelial growth factor, epidermal growth factor, and more.

These growth factors are responsible for signaling your body to begin the healing process at a cellular level. Growth factors are an extremely important part of the healing process. PRP Hair Fall Treatment stimulates hair follicles with growth factors.

"Maintaining healthy hair growth requires a healthy, well-nourished scalp," said PRP Hair Treatment's Founder. "The PRP Hair Loss Treatment stimulates hair follicles with growth factors, encouraging the regrowth of hair."

PRP hair treatment is a minimally invasive procedure and has proven to be very effective for hair loss treatment for both men and women. Thanks to its many benefits, PRP hair treatment has established itself as one of the best treatments for hair loss available today.
