

Skipp: The New Mobile App to Revolutionize the Market of Hiring Software Engineers

Menlo Park, California Mar 16, 2023 (Issuewire.com) - Skipp, the new mobile app to disrupt the old-school market for hiring engineers. Weirdly, the market for hiring tech talent is still not digitalized. For too long, the process of finding developers and other technical roles has been overcomplicated, taking months to hire a new senior engineer. Skipp is changing that status quo by eliminating all the middlemen to make hiring easier and faster. From startup founder to CTO to Product Manager, anyone can find the best match for their needs by having direct access to a global pool of vetted talents in one simple yet powerful app.

Skipp makes it easy to find the best people for your organization's biggest tech challenges by algorithmically matching your requirements to the best candidates, where you can "swipe right" to see more profiles and book an interview in one click.

Skipp's mission is to make the process of building a tech team as seamless as possible. With a world-class selection of vetted remote talents, including product managers, software developers, team leads, designers, and more, you'll have a ready-for-work team at your fingertips. In addition, you'll be able to see each candidate's full profile, including their skills and experience, timezone, and salary expectations, before deciding whether to hire or interview them.

With Skipp, you'll be able to unblock your delivery roadmap, meet your release deadlines, complete projects that have been delayed in the queue, add oversight to help manage tech resources, and build new products. The app makes it easy to match with the right person for the job, whether you're looking for a specific skill set or particular expertise.

"We're thrilled to bring the Skipp app to the market," said Alex Odin, CEO of Skipp. "Our goal is to help organizations build the teams they need to succeed in today's fast-paced and ever-changing tech landscape. With SKIPP, you'll have access to the best remote talents from around the world, making it easier than ever to build your dream team and tackle your biggest tech challenges."
