

Tamber Hannah-Dalton, Outpatient Dialysis Registered Nurse

Get to know Outpatient Dialysis Registered Nurse Tamber Hannah-Dalton, who serves patients in Elm City, North Carolina.

New York City, New York Feb 20, 2023 (Issuewire.com) - Tamber is an outpatient dialysis registered nurse specializing in wound care and dialysis. She currently serves patients in Elm City, North Carolina.

After graduating with her nursing degree from Vile City Community College in 2012, Tamber has over a decade of experience. She attributes her success to her mother, who was handicapped before she was born.

Having grown up in the medical world, Tamber knew she was destined for this work. Also, she had great managers, teachers, and staff professionals along the way.

Finding her passion in taking care of others, she is certified in Basic Life Support (BLS - not intended for postnominal use).

A Registered Nurse (RN) is a nurse who has graduated from a nursing program and met the requirements outlined by a country, state, province, or similar licensing body to obtain a nursing license. RNs fulfill a variety of job duties. In addition to their primary role in treating and caring for patients, their responsibilities also include educating patients and the public about a variety of medical conditions, as well as providing emotional support and advice to the families of their patients. Other RN job functions include leadership, research, performing diagnostic tests and analyzing results, operating medical equipment, administering medications, recording patients' symptoms and medical histories, and assisting with patient rehabilitation and follow-up.
