Delhi, India Mar 14, 2023 (Issuewire.com) - Looking to buy a new Android phone? I'd suggest you wait just a bit. Popular mobile maker Infinix is all set to launch the new Infinix Hot 30i smartphone in India. Infinix seems to launch a premium design smartphone with amazing specifications. Infinix is known for making high specced smartphones at an affordable price. And the Hot 30i is an upcoming Android phone from the company that seems to tick all the right boxes. This is a leaked image that someone spotted on Facebook. It gives a fair idea of the amazing specifications of the upcoming Infinix Mobile and also hints at the price of the same.

The Infinix Hot Mobile series is pretty popular in India, offerings feature like a big screen and massive battery at pocket-friendly prices. The Infinix Hot 30i, is all set to continue the legacy by offering up to 16GB RAM and 128GB Storage. This massive RAM is pretty much unheard of in the segment. The closest competition, the Redmi 10A, offers just 6GB* of RAM with 128GB storage. The massive 16GB* RAM in the new Infinix Hot 30i Mobile is making it Multitasking, smooth and reliable. This is a lot of RAM, and with this much memory, every task will be smooth and lag-free. Gaming will also be a great experience of the HOT 30i, since it is expected to pack in a capable chipset with it.

Talking about design, the leaked image showcases a premium diamond pattern-ish back design that looks quite premium and unique. Overall, it's for sure the best-looking smartphone, which may come under the 15k price segment. The design just seems better than other mobiles from the competition, including Realme C33 and, Moto E40. It's the kind of design we expect to see in phones that are priced at 3x times more. It's a great thing seeing a company like Infinix focusing on the power and beauty of smartphones which is overlooked from completions. A great design is something that everyone aspires for in the new android phone. I hope this ensures other manufacturers also start taking a great design into consideration as well.

With its smooth multitasking experience, ample storage, and affordable price point, the Infinix Hot 30i is definitely worth considering. The Infinix Hot 30i seems to be the perfect phone for everyone looking for all of the above. As an upcoming Android phone, the Hot 30i is sure to make a splash in the market and provide users with great value for their money. The current launch date of the much-awaited Upcoming Infinix Mobile remains unknown. But looking at the past trends and the leaked screenshot, it would be safe to assume it's launching soon. Certain leaks have pointed toward the March-end release. But it's better to wait for an official confirmation regarding the same.

So if you're in the market to buy the best affordable smartphone, and are looking for the best options, the Infinix HOT 30i should be on top of your list. This upcoming Infinix mobile has everything you may need, from a really premium design, to a massive 16 GB of RAM, 128 GB ROM and more. Expect to get an official announcement from the company soon. I personally can't wait to know more features and specifications of the Infinix Hot 30i, and I hope the company launches it really soon!
