

Black Lantern Records Signs WeatheredMan and The Noise

It's raw. It's loud. It's 2 men who frankly should know better, playing as if their lives depended on it.

Black Lantern Records, a not-for-profit artist centric independent record label based in the historic Roman City of Chester, UK, are thrilled to announce the arrival of WeatheredMan and The Noise to their stable of artists.

Black Lantern is a division of Red Lantern Records that caters to the noisier end of music. WeatheredMan and The Noise join our expanding roster of artists across Indie & Alt Rock, Post-Punk and Industrial Electronica genres.

Simon Bradshaw (AKA WeatheredMan) is an award-winning writer and producer currently working out of a number of studios across the north of England. Over the past few years he has worked with renowned artists from all over the globe (Red Hot Chilli Peppers, The Wombats, Cheryl Cole, Peter Hook) and recently scored a number one hit in 78 countries for his writing and production work on K-Pop legends ShinEE's "Don't Call Me" album.

As a performer himself in a variety of cult indie bands (largely via the Probe Plus label – the UK's longest running independent and publishers Bucks Music Group) he has accumulated support from all the UK's premier tastemakers (NME, Q, Huff Post, Louder Than War, Steve Lamacq, Jo Whiley, Zane Lowe, Tom Robinson, Gideon Coe and his treasured John Peel session), completed multiple US and European tours (including 3 trips for headline gig at SXSW).

Now recording as WeatheredMan, last year his many volumes of varied output were recognised when he was nominated as Best UK Solo Artist and for Best UK Song by the indie bible Pure M (alongside luminaries such as Zayn Malik, Kate Tempest, Adam Ant and Gaz Coombes) plus a nomination in 2022 at the PMA's for Best Indie/Alternative track.

After a successful EP in 2020 and a lauded Christmas single, WeatheredMan now presents his 2 piece rock band – WeatheredMan and the Noise. It's raw. It's loud. It's 2 men who frankly should know better, playing as if their lives depended on it.

Quotes about WeatheredMan:

"That was fantastic - it was wonderful, melodic and uplifting. He is actually a songwriter that can move people a lot...and what he has written there is quite rare..."- Peter Hook about Simon Bradshaw on BBC TV's UK's Best Part-Time Band

"The song is so darn excellent...my advice is: check it out. You'll like it. Simply because he's so good..."
Randall Radic, The Huffington Post

"His sound is like none I've ever heard, yet one I want to hear more of...really there is nothing even similar to it out there." Eileen Shapiro, Louder than War
