

Fincons Group Joins Forces with Ab Initio to Deliver Next-Gen Data Governance

A Powerful Consulting and Technology Partnership Supporting Data-Driven Organisations

Milano, Lombardia Mar 25, 2023 (Issuewire.com) - Fincons Group, a leading international IT business consulting and system integration company with over 2600 professionals in Europe and the USA, has partnered with Ab Initio, a global provider of an integrated technology platform for scalable, high-performance data processing, integration, and governance.

Through this partnership, Fincons Group will enhance its service capabilities by leveraging Ab Initio's Data Catalog, Quality, and Governance platform. This will empower users with understandable, measurable, and trustworthy data across various sectors, including Financial Services and Insurance, Manufacturing, International Institutions, Transportation, Energy & Utilities, and Media.

This cooperation further bolsters Fincons' data excellence offering, via the implementation, configuration, and integration of state-of-the-art solutions offered by Ab Initio. Initially, the companies will focus on a tailored governance solution for the financial services and insurance sector in Europe, with plenty of scope for expansion as Fincons' consolidated international customer base calls for new solutions to help companies become more data-driven.

"As a leading force behind some of the world's most sophisticated data infrastructures, Ab Initio takes pride in its comprehensive Data Governance capabilities. From data cataloging to enterprise data quality and PII management, our end-to-end governance solutions are designed to meet the most stringent compliance and security requirements in highly competitive markets," explains Federico Genoese Zerbi, who oversees Southern Europe at Ab Initio. "By rapidly harnessing the power of diverse data from across the enterprise, businesses can gain a strategic advantage over their competitors. Our automated features reduce costs associated with metadata and governance initiatives and empower users with self-service capabilities."

"We are pleased to continue to expand our strategic partnerships with game-changing technology solutions to help our clients internationally empower their business through data that users can understand, measure and trust. As data becomes more and more pivotal to achieving success, businesses are now prioritising the implementation of an efficient and reliable data governance platform. Fincons always strives to identify and select the best solutions available for our clients, so we're delighted to add Ab Initio's data platform to our offering, which paired with our system integration experience and know-how will help businesses achieve data excellence," declares Francesco Moretti, Group Deputy CEO and International CEO of Fincons Group.

About Fincons Group

Fincons Group is an international IT business consulting and system integration company that has been supporting companies for 40 years in seizing the opportunities of digital change by offering cutting-edge technologies and innovative solutions that always anticipate the future. Fincons offers advice on IT strategies in various fields, as well as system integration services for international packages, proprietary solutions, and IT services in Smart-Shore through its Delivery Center to companies in the Energy & Utilities, Financial Services, and Insurance, Media, Manufacturing, Public Administration, Transportation sectors and to International Institutions. The Group now has over 2,600 professionals and 16 offices in Italy, Switzerland, the UK, Germany, France, Belgium, and the United States.

For more information: www.finconsgroup.com www.finconsgroup.com

About Ab Initio

Ab Initio works with the largest and most sophisticated organizations in financial services, telecommunications, healthcare, retail, high-tech, transportation, manufacturing, and government, among others, to assure their business success. Ab Initio products are designed from the beginning to provide a single, cohesive technology platform for scalable, high-performance data processing, integration, and governance.

Ab Initio has built a reputation as the go-to data platform for the world's largest and most sophisticated organizations. The system transforms how large institutions manage and process their data and unlocks the full potential of its customer's data, driving business success and security whilst staying ahead of the competition.

With a worldwide presence, including Boston, London, Paris, Munich, Rome, Warsaw, Istanbul, Johannesburg, Singapore, Tokyo, and Sydney, Ab Initio is well-positioned to serve both regional and global organisations. www.abinitio.com

Media Contacts

Josephine Ornago

Email: Josephine.ornago@finconsgroup.com

Mob: +39 320 2921051

Media Contact

OutspokenPR

team@outspokenpr.com

Source : Fincons Group

See on IssueWire