MrMed, India's leading online pharmacy for super-speciality medicines, has announced the release of its mobile application, enabling patients and caregivers to purchase life-saving drugs at affordable prices.

MrMed aims to make over 5,000 speciality medicines accessible to patients across India, including tier-2 and 3 cities, towns and villages. The mobile app is available for Android and iOS platforms, making it easier for patients to buy medicines for critical conditions like cancer, kidney diseases, heart disorders, HIV/AIDS, transplants, hepatitis, and more at their fingertips.

The typical challenges faced by most patients before they can receive timely treatment for conditions like cancer include finding the right place to buy medicines, and negotiating the best prices, all while experiencing anxiety and desperation. The launch of MrMed's mobile app represents a crucial milestone in achieving accessible and cost-effective access to life-saving medications across all regions of the nation.

Devashish Singh, Co-founder and CEO of MrMed, said, "The majority of medicines available on MrMed are life-saving, and we believe that no patient in any corner of the country should suffer due to delayed or limited access to affordable medicines. We're proud to be the only platform offering up to 85% discounts on such essential medicines. Additionally, our expert healthcare blogs provide valuable information related to critical health conditions, ensuring that users are well-informed."

Users can directly search for the medicines on the app or simply upload their prescriptions. The app allows users to place orders with just a few clicks. The app offers flexible payment options, including online transactions and payment upon delivery.

Some of the highlights of the app are:

- Accurate medical information was written by experts
- Transparent information about Patient Support Programs offered by manufacturers
- Real-time updates on order status
- Order history & refill reminders
- Healthcare blogs on critical health conditions

In conclusion, MrMed's mobile app is a game-changer in the healthcare industry, providing patients and caregivers with timely access to life-saving medicines in every part of the country.
