Willetton, Mar 2, 2023 (Issuewire.com) - Seasons may come and go but what remains constant is O'Neill Fernandes and his determination to come up with something new and unique every time. Keeping consistency with his craft, this independent music artist has come up with his 40th album this year, titled 'Let's Dance...Vol.6'. This is a very special double album created by O'Neill where Side A consists of 'Shades of The Shads...Vol.3' and Side B are dedicated to 'Let's Dance...Vol.6'. The album is masterfully crafted and offers all the flavors of the golden era; starting from 1957 to 1999. The project is all set to release at the end of the month.

This talented Pop music artist from Perth is well revered for his remarkable musical covers which are liked, loved, and well-appreciated among the listeners. In this latest project, there is a track named 'Right Back Where We Are Started From' that reflects O'Neill's musical excellence. The original track was released back in 1975 by Maxine Nightingale and it instantly became a hit. One of the greatest virtues of O'Neill is that he pours down an ample dose of individuality in his works which makes them more unique even though it is just covered.

Similarly, there is another track in the album named 'Peppermint Twist' which is quite catchy and can captivate everyone. The original track was written, recorded, and released by Joey Dee and Henry Glover in 1961. Through O'Neill's magical creation, this track has received an additional layer of creativity. Some of the other tracks from Side B like 'Yummy Yummy Yummy', 'Baby Come Back', 'In The Summertime', etc also offer enjoyable retro flavors. O'Neill Fernandes is well known for his musical creations which are instrumental yet capable of offering emotive essence. Follow him on SoundCloud and Facebook to know more about his creative works.
