most live music out there. “Bounce” is for Solomon’s fans and followers.

The artist is addicted to a creative process that has brought him nothing but success. After finding a beat, he is inspired to write lyrics that will have your body dancing through the night. Mixing and mastering the newly created hit is the final step before Solomon feels the vibe has been met for the fans that affectionately call him “Billie”, short for a billionaire.

In fact, Solomon’s strong connection to his fans is what he says has contributed to his elevation. Easily accessible on social media, he was able to form bonds that started with hundreds of people to now millions of viewers.

Solomon likens his twist on words and vocal inflection to that of “Passionfruit” rapper, Drake’s. He likes to jump between genres floating from a pop-based melody to hardcore rap.

His unique style has drawn the attention of collaborators such as J Young MDK. Solomon is looking forward to seeing his career grow and “Bounce” is just the beginning.
