

Ummah.com Relunched in Time for Ramadan: A Comprehensive Resource for Muslim Families Worldwide

London, United Kingdom Mar 23, 2023 (Issuewire.com) - Ummah.com, the popular Muslim lifestyle website that has been serving the community since the late 90s, has been relaunched in time for Ramadan under the new leadership of Anna Marikar, the blogger behind the successful parenting blog Intheplayroom.co.uk. The site has been revamped with a fresh new look and a wider focus on family and lifestyle content, in addition to Islamic information. Ummah.com aims to provide Muslim families worldwide with a comprehensive resource to help them observe Ramadan and beyond.

The relaunch comes after a server crash wiped out all the content on the site. Marikar saw an opportunity to take over Ummah.com and build on its legacy of providing a platform for Muslims to share information and connect with each other. She said, "We wanted to create a space where Muslim families could find everything they need in one place. Our mission is to empower and support Muslim families worldwide, and we hope that the new site will be a valuable resource for them."

Ummah.com will be sharing a range of content, including family and lifestyle articles, inspirational stories, and Islamic information. The site also features a fun quiz to test your knowledge of Ramadan and a list of kids' activities for the holy month. Marikar hopes that the site will help to build bridges between Muslim and non-Muslim communities by providing a space for people to learn and engage with each other.

The Ummah.com team said, "We're excited to see Ummah.com relaunched with a fresh new look and feel, and we're looking forward to seeing the site grow and thrive under Anna's leadership. The site has always been a valuable resource for the Muslim community, and we believe that the new site will be even more valuable with its focus on family and lifestyle content."

In addition to providing valuable resources for Muslim families, Ummah.com is also committed to providing information and support to the community. The site has recently published a list of Ramadan activities for kids, which has been popular with parents looking for ways to involve their children in the holy month. The site has also been distributing health information to the community, such as guidance from Glaucoma UK on how to prevent and manage glaucoma, a condition that affects many Muslims.

Marikar said, "We're proud to be able to provide information and support to the Muslim community, especially during these challenging times. We're committed to using Ummah.com to share information and resources that can help people to live their lives to the fullest, whether that's through providing inspiration for family activities, or sharing important health information."

With its comprehensive resources, Ummah.com is set to become an essential platform for the Muslim community worldwide. The new website is live now and can be accessed at www.ummah.com.
