

Beenie Man and Danola are set to bring the new Anthem for the summer!

"Me Luv The Way" remix Collaboration

Miami, Florida Apr 28, 2023 (Issuewire.com) - Danola, a pop musician from Haiti, just arrived for the first time in the U.S. and she's about to shake the room!

Danola is preparing to release a remix of her hit song "Me Luv The Way" featuring the king of Dancehall, Beenie Man. Beenie Man is a Jamaican reggae and dancehall artist who has been active in the music industry for over 30 years. He is a Grammy Award-winning artist and has collaborated with various artists, making him a sought-after artist in the industry.

After an 8-year break from the US, Beenie Man is making a comeback, and collaborating with Danola makes it just sweeter. This is an exciting opportunity for Danola as she works with an industry legend who has influenced many artists. Beenie Man's involvement in the remix will undoubtedly bring new attention to Danola's music and widen her fan base.

The release date for the remix of "Me Luv The Way" has been set for May 18th, 2023, and will be available on all audio platforms. This means Danola's fans can easily access the song and enjoy it from anywhere in the world. To further promote the song, Danola and Beenie Man will shoot a music video a few weeks later in Brooklyn, New York. The music video will not only give the song more exposure, but it will also showcase Danola's talent and creativity as a musician.
