

MultiNFT Announces Changes to $MNFT Token Listing Plans Amid Strategic Decisions

MultiNFT, a prominent name in the NFT industry, has made the decision to alter its strategy regarding the listing of the $MNFT token.

Kiev, Kyiv Apr 5, 2023 (Issuewire.com) - MultiNFT Announces Changes to $MNFT Token Listing Plans Amid Strategic Decisions:

“MultiNFT, a leading player in the NFT space, has announced that it has decided to change its plans for the $MNFT token listing due to several reasons, including waiting for optimal market conditions and strategic decisions relating to the structure and fundraising processes of the company and also technical reconsiderations in regards to the efficiency of the specific blockchains selected for the project.

The company has also taken the decision to keep the listing venues confidential, citing strategic reasons. The decision to list on bigger centralized exchanges will help the company achieve its growth objectives, but more details will be announced in the near future.

Despite these changes, MultiNFT has continued to achieve significant milestones, including its weekly RAGE club activities in Decentraland, adding Metal to its genre list of concerts. These activities require considerable effort and resources, but they have been a key part of the company's commitment to its community.

In addition, the company recently released the comic book NFT Metaverse Nights, featuring the MultiNFT Genesis Collection NFTs as the main characters. This is just one example of how the company is continuing to innovate and push the boundaries of what is possible in the NFT space.

MultiNFT remains committed to its community and is excited about the future of the project. More information about the $MNFT token listing plans will be announced in due course."
