

New Self-Storage Facility Offers Long and Short-Term Storage to Businesses of Every Scale

Great news for businesses operating in Cork! Boxed Storage - the newly established self-storage provider is now here to accept short and long-term storage demands from enterprises of all scales and scopes.

Cork, Ireland Apr 13, 2023 (IssueWire.com) - Boxed Storage, a provider of a self-storage facility in Cork, has recently announced the flexibility of its options for enterprises of all sizes and scopes. Today, it is proud to have established a long and short term storage unit to balance out the burgeoning demand for safe and convenient storage solutions across all business verticals.

Strategically located on Monahan Road in Cork, the facility offers a variety of storage options, including climate-controlled facilities, drive-up units, and indoor storage spaces to serve business purposes besides personal storage requirements. These units are available in a range of sizes to support companies of all kinds, from little start-ups to enormous conglomerates.

According to the managing head of Boxed Storage, advanced security measures are in place at their site. "We have round-the-clock CCTV surveillance, gated entrance, cutting-edge security systems, and unique alarms on every unit”, elaborated the executive. Business owners can now breathe a sigh of relief knowing that their priceless assets and inventory are safely tucked away within secure units.

Apart from the avant-garde security features, the self-storage facility provides a wide range of practical amenities. Unloading delivery packages using forklifts, a free van to move in, flexibility in rental rates, and 24-hour access are a few to name. The features are tailored to ease package delivery and accessibility for all business owners, regardless of their scale and scope.

Purpose of Long-Term Storage Units, Available at Boxed Storage

“If you wish to store your business items for a longer period i.e. anything more than 3 months, our long term storage facility would add value to your operations”, said the managing head of Boxed Storage on inquiry. The following items can be kept within such units:

- Seasonal items, such as holiday decorations, outdoor equipment, etc
- Excess inventory for them to remain in proper condition and easily accessible
- Bulky equipment is not required year-round
- Records and documents for compliance, legal and financial purposes
- Furniture during relocation and until the new space has been setup

The Objective of Short-Term Storage Units at Boxed Storage

“A simple and affordable solution, such facilities aim to keep belongings safe and dry for less than 3 months”, explained the managing head of Boxed Storage. Businesses frequently relocating from one location to another can seek the greatest benefits. Since goods stored here are for less time, the likelihood of dust collecting on items is little and dust covers would be enough. Apart from this, short-term self-storage units can hoard the following:

- Promotional materials, transport equipment, and inventory during trade shows
- Furniture, inventory, and equipment during business renovations
- Belongings during unexpected situations like fire breakout, water damage, etc
- Seasonal items to be stored when the inventory increases to meet the surge in demand

Boxed Storage’s new self-storage units are well-positioned to take the lead as the ultimate destination for businesses operating in Cork. Thanks to their decision to expand their facility to house both short and long-term storage requirements! Visit it to learn more about this facility or to rent space!
