New York City, New York May 12, 2023 (IssueWire.com) - Dr. Mukhdomi, also known as Dr. J, is a double board-certified anesthesiologist & interventional pain management physician.

As a part of the team of medical professionals at Pain Zero, his clinical interests include persistent post-surgical pain, knee pain, shoulder pain, lower back pain, neck pain, vascular pain, abdominal pain, cancer pain, and chronic regional pain syndrome.

Located in Central Ohio with locations throughout Columbus: New Albany, Westerville, Grove City, and Hilliard, and serving the surrounding areas, Pain Zero offers pain care solutions with the latest technologies and treatments for adults of all ages. The team of highly trained pain management physicians is experienced in performing minimally invasive procedures: neuromodulation, regenerative medicine, infusions, and much more, to treat patients living with chronic pain.

To treat pain, Dr. J utilizes the most advanced techniques, including ultrasound-guided procedures and fluoroscopy. His goals are to help people suffering from pain, optimize pain control, enhance their abilities to function and improve physical and psychological well-being.

His practice focuses on a multidisciplinary approach that closely meets individual needs. He also has a passion for medical innovation and evidence-based treatments to ultimately improve functional status and help improve the quality of life for his patients.

On his educational path, Dr. J graduated with his Bachelor of Science degree from The Ohio State University. He then went on to earn both his medical degree and Master of Health Administration degree from the Chicago Medical School at Rosalind Franklin University.

Thereafter, he honed his clinical teaching and interventional pain skills through his training at the top institutions in the country, including Cleveland Clinic (Ranked #2 Hospital by US News & World Report) and Rush University Medical Center (Ranked Top 10 Orthopedic Hospital by US News & World Report).

Double board-certified in anesthesiology and pain medicine, he is a Diplomate of the American Board of Anesthesiology (ABA). The mission of the ABA is to advance the highest standards of the practice of anesthesiology.

Staying up to date in his field, Dr. J remains an active member of the American Society of Regional Anesthesia and Pain Medicine, the American Society of Pain and Neuroscience, the American Society of Interventional Pain Physicians, and the American Academy of Pain Medicine.

Anesthesiology is the medical specialty concerned with the total perioperative care of patients before, during, and after surgery. It encompasses anesthesia, intensive care medicine, critical emergency medicine, and pain medicine. Anesthesiologists have the primary responsibility of monitoring the patient's vital signs during surgery. In addition to basic measurements such as pulse, blood pressure, and temperature, they measure the patient's respiration.

Interventional pain management or interventional pain medicine is a medical subspecialty that treats pain with invasive interventions such as facet joint injections, nerve blocks, neuroaugmentation, vertebroplasty, kyphoplasty, nucleoplasty, endoscopic discectomy, and implantable drug delivery system. Interventional pain management physicians focus on the evaluation, treatment, and prevention of pain.

With a passion for medical innovation and research, Dr. J has published on a variety of topics, including neuromodulation, peripheral nerve stimulation, and minimizing opioid consumption following surgeries.

Outside of medicine, Dr. J has a passion for sports. He enjoys traveling, working out, and spending time with his family.
