

Recently Launched Lab Technician (MLT) Courses

Would you like to become an MLT professional under the direction of specialists in the industry? Then, at that point, Henry Harvin Education is presenting medical laboratory technician courses for yearning MLTs.

New Delhi, Delhi May 29, 2023 (Issuewire.com) - Could it be said that you intend to pursue a career in medical science services for the rest of your life? Would you like to become an MLT professional under the direction of specialists in the industry? Then, at that point, Henry Harvin Education is presenting medical laboratory technician courses for yearning MLTs.

Medical Laboratory Technician Course

If you want to work in the healthcare field but aren't interested in working frontline, a career as a clinical lab technician might be ideal for you. To pursue a professional career, you must have a certification in the MLT course. It is the study of samples such as blood, urine, and other substances collected from human beings for analysis to identify disease or the health condition of individuals.

In this medical laboratory technician course, you will get a chance to learn about anatomy, physiology, infection control, medical emergencies, ethics, laws, the test process, hematology, and many others. In this course, you get to learn new medical jargon. After pursuing the course you would get to explore work opportunities as an analyst, technician, writer, etc.

MLT Course Details

The medical laboratory technician course curriculum is designed as per the NDSC curriculum by experts in the industry. During the training period, you would get access to labs, simulation sessions, and case studies. The trainers give you a completely practical approach to getting a keen understanding of experiments conducted in the lab

You can access the Henry Harvin learning management system unlimitedly. You receive login credentials on your registered email ID and mobile phone. You can access the same information on your mobile phone and your laptop.

You will be eligible to avail of a one-year gold membership worth Rs. 6000/- for free, and during this period you will get to access all benefits during your MLT Course training period. You would get access to recordings of sessions with multiple trainers.

Once you finish all the requirements of the MLT course, you apply for an internship program with Henry Harvin's partnership firms. There, you will get to apply your skills practically in a real-time environment.

Henry Harvin offers 100% placement support upon completion of the medical laboratory technician course. You will receive job alerts regularly on your mail ID and mobile phone.

MLT Course Fee: Rs. 1,50,000/- (EMI is available at Rs. 16667/- per month)

MLT Course Duration: 1 year live interactive classroom sessions(200 hours)

Eligibility

To enroll in this MLT certification, you do not need a degree in medical science. All you need is to pass 12th grade with a science background.

If you are from any bioscience background, such as microbiology or biochemistry, you can enroll in this course to explore lab technician career opportunities.

Individuals who have an interest in working in healthcare jobs can enroll in this MLT certification

Benefits of pursuing the MLT Course

Obtain information on sustained evaluation, laboratory advancements, and equipment.

Prepare and analyze Clinical experiments and outcomes

Learn about fundamental pathology and demonstrate alternatives.

Learn about biological trash management, material management, and performance networks.

Learn About Healthcare Guidelines and Ethics

Understand cell therapy, tissue, gastrointestinal-related structure, and skeleton structure, and that's only the start.

Discover more about various hematologic conditions, like pallor. Comprehend standard research lab testing.

Career opportunities

There are numerous job options in the field of lab technician, research technician, blood center technician, health care technician, research manager, research assistant, and so on.

Lab Expert: Obtaining, marking, and analyzing tests; organizing and carrying out lab testing by standard methodology; and supervising tests under controlled circumstances to validate or refute various ideas using sophisticated techniques. scientific methods are all responsibilities of a lab technician.

Health information specialist: A health information specialist is in charge of the administrative activities associated with the maintenance of patient records. Rather than dealing with diagnosis or treatments, these technicians are in charge of updating and organizing data, as well as verifying that records adhere to healthcare system standards.

The technician at a Blood Bank: Blood bank technicians collect, classify, and store blood in a lab to identify potential donors, store blood, take blood, and keep documentation and records. During treatment, they keep patients relaxed and pay attention to their vital biological systems.

Lab Assistant: A laboratory assistant has to assist senior technicians with tasks in a facility or room suited for doing scientific research or teaching practical science, such as cleaning and sterilizing equipment.

Lab Manager: A laboratory manager's role is to schedule lab or equipment use time for staff. Some lab supervisors are also in charge of acquiring lab supplies or creating ordering lists. They frequently handle security documents and must guarantee that all information and data gathered are accurate.

Henry Harvin Healthcare Academy

Henry Harvin Healthcare Academy is an exclusive wing that is part of Henry Harvin Education and was founded by Mr. Kounal Gupta. The MLT certification courses are designed as per industry standards, and the main goal of the institution is to improve the competency level of the students by making them employable and getting them settled in their desired careers. Apart from the Medical Laboratory Technician certification course, you can also enroll in other healthcare courses such as medical writing course, operation theater technician course, diploma in food and nutrition course, general duty assistant, X-Ray technical course, etc. Visit Henry Harvin's healthcare academy website to explore more courses related to the clinical domain.

Media Contact

henry harvin eduaction

deepaaligup@gmail.com

Source : Henry Harvin Education

See on IssueWire