

The revelation of Mohammad Yavari, a Iranian singer, from behind the curtain of the music mafia

Mohammad Yavari Iranian Singer and Musician and Acter

Tehran, Iran May 1, 2023 (Issuewire.com) - Mohammad Yavari said that the music scene is very mafia and never allows independent singers to work in the public music scene.

There are those who highlight some singers overnight. A singer who has been working for years and hasn't been heard—not heard that much—suddenly blossoms. Producers sign ten-year contracts with their desired singers. Five years ago, now they don't solve five years anymore. They say it should be at least ten years old and they get five percent. For example, readers whose names are mentioned may not be true that they have attended once in the past year. They sign a ten-year contract with them and take five percent of the contract. That means singer X gets 40 million tomans for each performance and performs almost every day of the month in different cities of Iran. Unaware that they take every forty million, the producer gives two million tomans to this and they sign a ten-year contract, so that they want more than one or two years of activity, five percent is for life. . It means that you have no rights for these ten years, and after ten years, the singer will be crumpled like a paper towel and the next person will replace him.

I saw one of the interviews of the music producer. o you do cultural work in the interview? He said: No, I don't do cultural work at all, I don't know cultural work at all. I work commercially and look at the reader as a commodity, like clothes. I calculate how much profit it will be if I bring him. I am thinking about importing a mobile phone to see how much profit it is or to support a certain reader. Instead of this mobile, I will highlight a singer overnight, for example, I will introduce the best TV shows. Not long ago, this issue was raised in the media and many protested. But such a thing really exists.
