He then attended medical school at Midwestern University - Arizona College of Osteopathic Medicine, graduating with his Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine degree.

After completing a residency in family medicine at Saint Joseph's Hospital in Phoenix, Arizona, Dr. Blaser spent a year abroad treating patients in New Zealand.

Board-certified in family medicine, he is a Diplomate of the American Osteopathic Board of Family Physicians (AOBFP). The AOBFP is an organization that provides board certification to qualified osteopathic physicians (DOs) who specialize in delivering comprehensive primary care for patients of all ages, genders, and addressing all parts of the body (family physicians).

On a professional level, Dr. Blaser is a member of the American Academy of Family Physicians and the American Osteopathic Association.

Family medicine is a medical specialty devoted to comprehensive health care for people of all ages. The specialist is called a family physician or family doctor. A family physician is often the first person a patient sees when seeking healthcare services. They examine and treat patients with a wide range of conditions and refer those with serious ailments to a specialist or appropriate facility.
